

Pittsburgh's charter schools

Charter schools are free, public schools operated independently of school districts. Three of Pittsburgh's charter schools provided information for this report.

Additional definitions and sources for charter schools

Definitions presented here include indicators, or definitions of indicators, that are unique to charter schools. For common indicators, see pages 106 and 107.

All information is from the 2007-08 school year unless noted.

Tests given by the school

City Charter High School:

Definition: ACT assessments in English, Reading, Mathematics and Science: standard scores for a cohort of students who took the ACT series—the EXPLORE assessment in 9th grade, the PLAN assessment in 10th grade, and the ACT assessment in 11th grade (a test some students take instead of the SAT). Scores for all subject areas were combined into one composite standard score. The cohort represents students who took the assessment in 2005-06, 2006-07, and 2007-08. The combined scores would remain the same year to year if school growth occurred at the same rate as the national norm group.

Urban League of Greater Pittsburgh:

Definition: Mean Normal Curve Equivalent (MNCE) for the TerraNova Reading, Language Arts, and Mathematics assessments, in 1st, 2nd, and 4th grades. MNCE is calculated by adding the normal curve equivalent scores of all students in the group and dividing by the total number of students in that group. Test scores were reported on a scale from 1-99, with 50 being an average score.
